Given that some services are to be provided by the market, what laws should govern interactions among citizens in market transactions?

Should government be big or should it be small? Should government intervene in markets sometimes or should it always let markets operate freely? ( ① ) While the first relates to which goods and services should be provided by the free market and which by the government, the second relates to the rules under which the free market will operate. ( ② ) As a society, we must choose whether to provide publicly funded pension systems and decide whether health care is to be freely provided to all and, if so, how much of it to provide. ( ③ ) These are all questions about the size and scope of government. ( ④ ) Should all prices be chosen freely by the market, or are there some prices that must be controlled through government intervention? ( ⑤ ) These are all questions about the rules under which the free market should operate.
